Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claims 23-38 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 03/24/2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Heath, U.S. Patent No. 5,725,570 and Heath, U.S. Patent No. 6,287,331. The cited patents teach the use of metal coatings greater than 12 g/cc in order to increase visibility.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sarkis et al., in view of Thomas.

The Sarkis et al., patent teaches the use of medical devices with Echogenic coatings for the infusion of agents into the body. Sarkis et al., does not expressly disclose the use of medical infusion devices for the infusion of blood clotting agents. However, the use of infusion devices for the infusion of blood clotting agents in the treatment of aneurysms is conventional in the art as evidenced by the teachings of Thomas. The Thomas patent teaches the use of syringes, needles, and other medical instruments for the infusion of agents during vasoconstriction procedures. Accordingly, for a person of ordinary skill in the art, using the infusion devices disclosed by Sarkis et al., for the infusion of blood clotting agents would have been considered an obvious in view of the conventionality of said use.

Claims 2-13 and 15-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sarkis et al., in view of Thomas, as disclosed above, and in further view of Heath, U.S. Patent No. 5,725,570 and Heath, U.S. Patent No. 6,287,331.

Sarkis et al., does not disclose the use of metal coatings having specific densities such as 12 g/cc and 15 g/cc. However, the use of metal coatings in infusion devices is conventional in the art as evidenced by the teachings Heath, U.S. Patent No. 5,725,570 and Heath, U.S. Patent No. 6,287,331. Accordingly, for a person of ordinary skill in the art, enhancing the infusion devices disclosed in the Sarkis et al., patent with metal coatings having densities greater than 12 g/cc and 15 g/cc would have been considered obvious in view of the conventionality of these enhancements.
